

MARTYN F LIMES

VARIANT: LIMES FOR PROS

When playing “Limes for Pros”, every worker can score additional bonus points.
The rules of the base game apply, with the following additions:

SCORING

Farmer

The farmer provides food for himself and the workers in his neighborhood: in addition to the usual scoring, every farmer scores 1 bonus point for himself and each worker whose territory is vertically or horizontally adjacent to his field territory. If a fisherman's water territory is adjacent to the farmer's field territory, the farmer also scores for workers whose territories are vertically or horizontally adjacent to the fisherman's water territory (see variant „The fisherman as ferryman“, base game rules on page 4).

Example: This farmer scores 9 points in total: 5 points for his field territory plus 4 bonus points for himself and for workers in the adjacent territories.

Fisherman

The fisherman feels safer if he is surrounded by towers: in addition to the usual scoring, every fisherman scores 1 bonus point for each tower that is vertically or horizontally adjacent to his water territory.

Example: This fisherman scores 6 points in total: 4 points for adjacent fisherman's huts plus 2 bonus points for adjacent towers.

Woodcutter

The woodcutter uses the wood to build huts: in addition to the usual scoring, every woodcutter scores 1 bonus point for each hut in his forest territory.

Example: This woodcutter scores 11 points in total: 7 points for adjacent territories plus 4 bonus points for huts in his forest territory.

Watchman

The watchman also keeps an eye on the farmer's field territory: in addition to the usual scoring, every watchman scores 1 bonus point for each field zone that the watchman can see in a horizontal or vertical direction from his tower zone.

Important: Other tower zones in his line of view block his view, so field zones beyond this obstruction don't count.

Example: This watchman scores 11 points in total: 6 points for forest zones in his line of view plus 5 bonus points for field zones in his line of view.

SOLO GAME

When playing “Limes for pros”, the scores should be considerably higher compared to the base game:

A score of less than 63 points is capable of improvement.

A score of 63 - 69 points is OK.

A score of 70 - 76 points is good.

A score of 77 - 83 points is very good.

A score of 84 or more points is excellent.
